Our vision is rooted in the religion and magic of the Goddess: The Immanent Life Force. We are the weavers of a new culture of power and weaving our voices, bodies, minds, intuitions, and energy. We use the skills we learn to deepen our strength, both as a community, to voice our concerns about the world in which we live, and to bring to birth a vision of a new culture.

Reclaiming Tradition

Reclaiming is a community of women and men working to unify spirit and politics. Our only creed is the Reclaiming Principles of Spirit and Nature.

Reclaiming Principles of Spirit and Nature

“May love walk where all beings….” — The Charge of the Goddess

May love walk where all beings walk. We honor our foremothers who worked to keep magic alive and all of life is sacred and interconnected. We see the Goddess as immanent in the Earth and as a creative and healing force, symbolized by the Quid of Life and the Wheel of the Year. Magic arises from a deep, spiritual relationship and to the linking of the divine.

Each of us embodies the divine. We are whole, and we interpret the sacred to us. We nurture the creative and magical in ourselves and our communities. We are an evolving, dynamic, living goddess.

Goddess and God are two equal and interdependent concepts — both God and Goddess, we both have legs to stand on. The Goddess possesses richness and balance, and God possesses power and strength. We are a mystery which goes beyond form. Our community rituals are participatory and seeking a balance of our inner and outer lives, our inner and outer quest.

We know that everyone can do the life-changing, world-renewing work of magic, the art of weaving power, action, and vision together. We work on personal and collective empowerment, to mobilized shared power and self-empowerment.

Our values honor the Wild, and call for service to the Earth and the community. We are the weavers, weaving our lives with the fabric of the Goddess, weaving the seeds of change and growth into the fabric of the entire world, as it is and shall be.

We make decisions by consensus, channels to individual with a sense of responsibility.

Our traditions honor the Wild, and call for service to the Earth and the community. We see the Goddess as immanent in the earth and the waters, the trees and the stars, the shadows and the mysteries. We see all things as interconnected and that interconnectedness is sacred. We see all things as holy. We see our role as preserving that interconnectedness.

We are a feminist, non-hierarchical culture, and see the connection between our individual lives and the global world. We are a mystery which goes beyond form. We are the weavers, weaving our lives with the fabric of the Goddess, weaving the seeds of change and growth into the fabric of the entire world, as it is and shall be.

We strive for a smooth flow of energy in all processes. We see the need to have structures that can be shared and enriched.

It is our tradition to channel and share the beauty and power of the Earth and the Goddess amongst ourselves.

We strive to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to

Our tradition is based on three primary beliefs: that the Earth is sacred, that the Goddess is the ultimate source of wisdom, and that we are all equal, together we can create a healthy world.

Our tradition is based on three primary beliefs: that the Earth is sacred, that the Goddess is the ultimate source of wisdom, and that we are all equal, together we can create a healthy world.

We are a feminist, non-hierarchical culture, and see the connection between our individual lives and the global world. We are a mystery which goes beyond form. We are the weavers, weaving our lives with the fabric of the Goddess, weaving the seeds of change and growth into the fabric of the entire world, as it is and shall be.

We strive for a smooth flow of energy in all processes. We see the need to have structures that can be shared and enriched.

It is our tradition to channel and share the beauty and power of the Earth and the Goddess amongst ourselves.

We strive to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to

Our tradition is based on three primary beliefs: that the Earth is sacred, that the Goddess is the ultimate source of wisdom, and that we are all equal, together we can create a healthy world.

We are a feminist, non-hierarchical culture, and see the connection between our individual lives and the global world. We are a mystery which goes beyond form. We are the weavers, weaving our lives with the fabric of the Goddess, weaving the seeds of change and growth into the fabric of the entire world, as it is and shall be.

We strive for a smooth flow of energy in all processes. We see the need to have structures that can be shared and enriched.

It is our tradition to channel and share the beauty and power of the Earth and the Goddess amongst ourselves.

We strive to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to

Our tradition is based on three primary beliefs: that the Earth is sacred, that the Goddess is the ultimate source of wisdom, and that we are all equal, together we can create a healthy world.

We are a feminist, non-hierarchical culture, and see the connection between our individual lives and the global world. We are a mystery which goes beyond form. We are the weavers, weaving our lives with the fabric of the Goddess, weaving the seeds of change and growth into the fabric of the entire world, as it is and shall be.

We strive for a smooth flow of energy in all processes. We see the need to have structures that can be shared and enriched.

It is our tradition to channel and share the beauty and power of the Earth and the Goddess amongst ourselves.

We strive to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to embody our values, that can help to heal the wounds of the earth and her peoples, and to

Our tradition is based on three primary beliefs: that the Earth is sacred, that the Goddess is the ultimate source of wisdom, and that we are all equal, together we can create a healthy world.